

DISCLAIMER :

All information and references within this website is provided on the basis that IFA Securities believe it to be accurate & reliable.

However IFA Securities cannot provide any warranty, nor be held responsible for the accuracy, appropriateness or relevance of the information contained.

People accessing the site should make their own enquires as to the accuracy and applicability of the information.

It is important that people understand that there is no intention to provide specific advice, whether express or implied, to any person or company viewing the information. The information is designed to provide general information and background.

Before making any financial decisions it is recommended that they seek advice, specific to their circumstances from a licenced financial advisor.

DISCLOSURE

It is hereby disclosed that IFA Securities Pty Ltd, and its advisers and/or their respective families, companies and trusts may have an interest in investments or securities which are discussed on this site. However all investments are available to the public and are subject to regulatory control.

In addition, IFA Securities or its advisors may, on occasions receive financial assistance and support in relation to marketing, training, business development and other benefits from companies listed or discussed.

